

ABSTRACT

A mechanism and method for depositing oil paints, acrylics, or other textural paints provides a means for automating the process of painting a picture. The process can be programmed into a data base 5 which is stored and used at will, or the artist can utilize control means such as a joy stick to provide real-time input.